William W. Jermaine, Grand Master of Masons of the District of Columbia, will deliver the introductory address at the opening of "Masonic Night," to be celebrated in the A. C. B. A. tourney, tonight. He will be presented by Albert Haas, president of the Masonic Duckpin League, at 8:30 o'clock.

No less than twenty-five dignitaries of the order have accepted invitations to be present to witness the performance of the twenty teams of the league, which will take to the pinways, starting at 7 o'clock.

The officers of the Masonic league, who will take part in tonight's ceremonies are: Grand Master, W. W. Jermaine; president, C. I. Crissey; vice president, J. L. Richards; secretary, W. J. Johnson; treasurer, Frank Sherman; assistant treasurer, George J. L. Malcom; and J. Claude Kelper, honorary president.

Masonic Lodge Masters who have signified their intention of being present are:

Clarence E. Williams, Federal Lodge; Harry E. Senigaglia, Columbia Lodge; Charles C. Sharr, Naval Lodge; Herbert A. Williams, Potomac Lodge; Charles E. Alexander, Lebanon Lodge; William C. Newell, Washington Lodge; Frank M. Scott, Hiram Lodge; Frank B. Ketchum, St. Johns Lodge; Frank A. Tuck, National Lodge; James P. McCarthy, Washington-Centennial; James P. Schick, Benjamin P. French; Perry P. Patrick, Dawson Lodge; Eli Ewally, Lafayette Lodge; David L. Lanthorn, Hope Lodge; Charles E. Lightfoot, George C. Whitting Lodge; Archie R. R. Onyon, Potomac Lodge; Ezekiel J. Ayer, Stanbury Lodge; Lucian J. Yung, Oriole Lodge; Frank A. Chase, King David Lodge; John W. Chappell, William L. Washington Lodge; T. Homer Hall, East Gate Lodge.

From present indications, the largest gallery that has ever witnessed the rolling will be present when the contest commences for the commencement of hostilities.

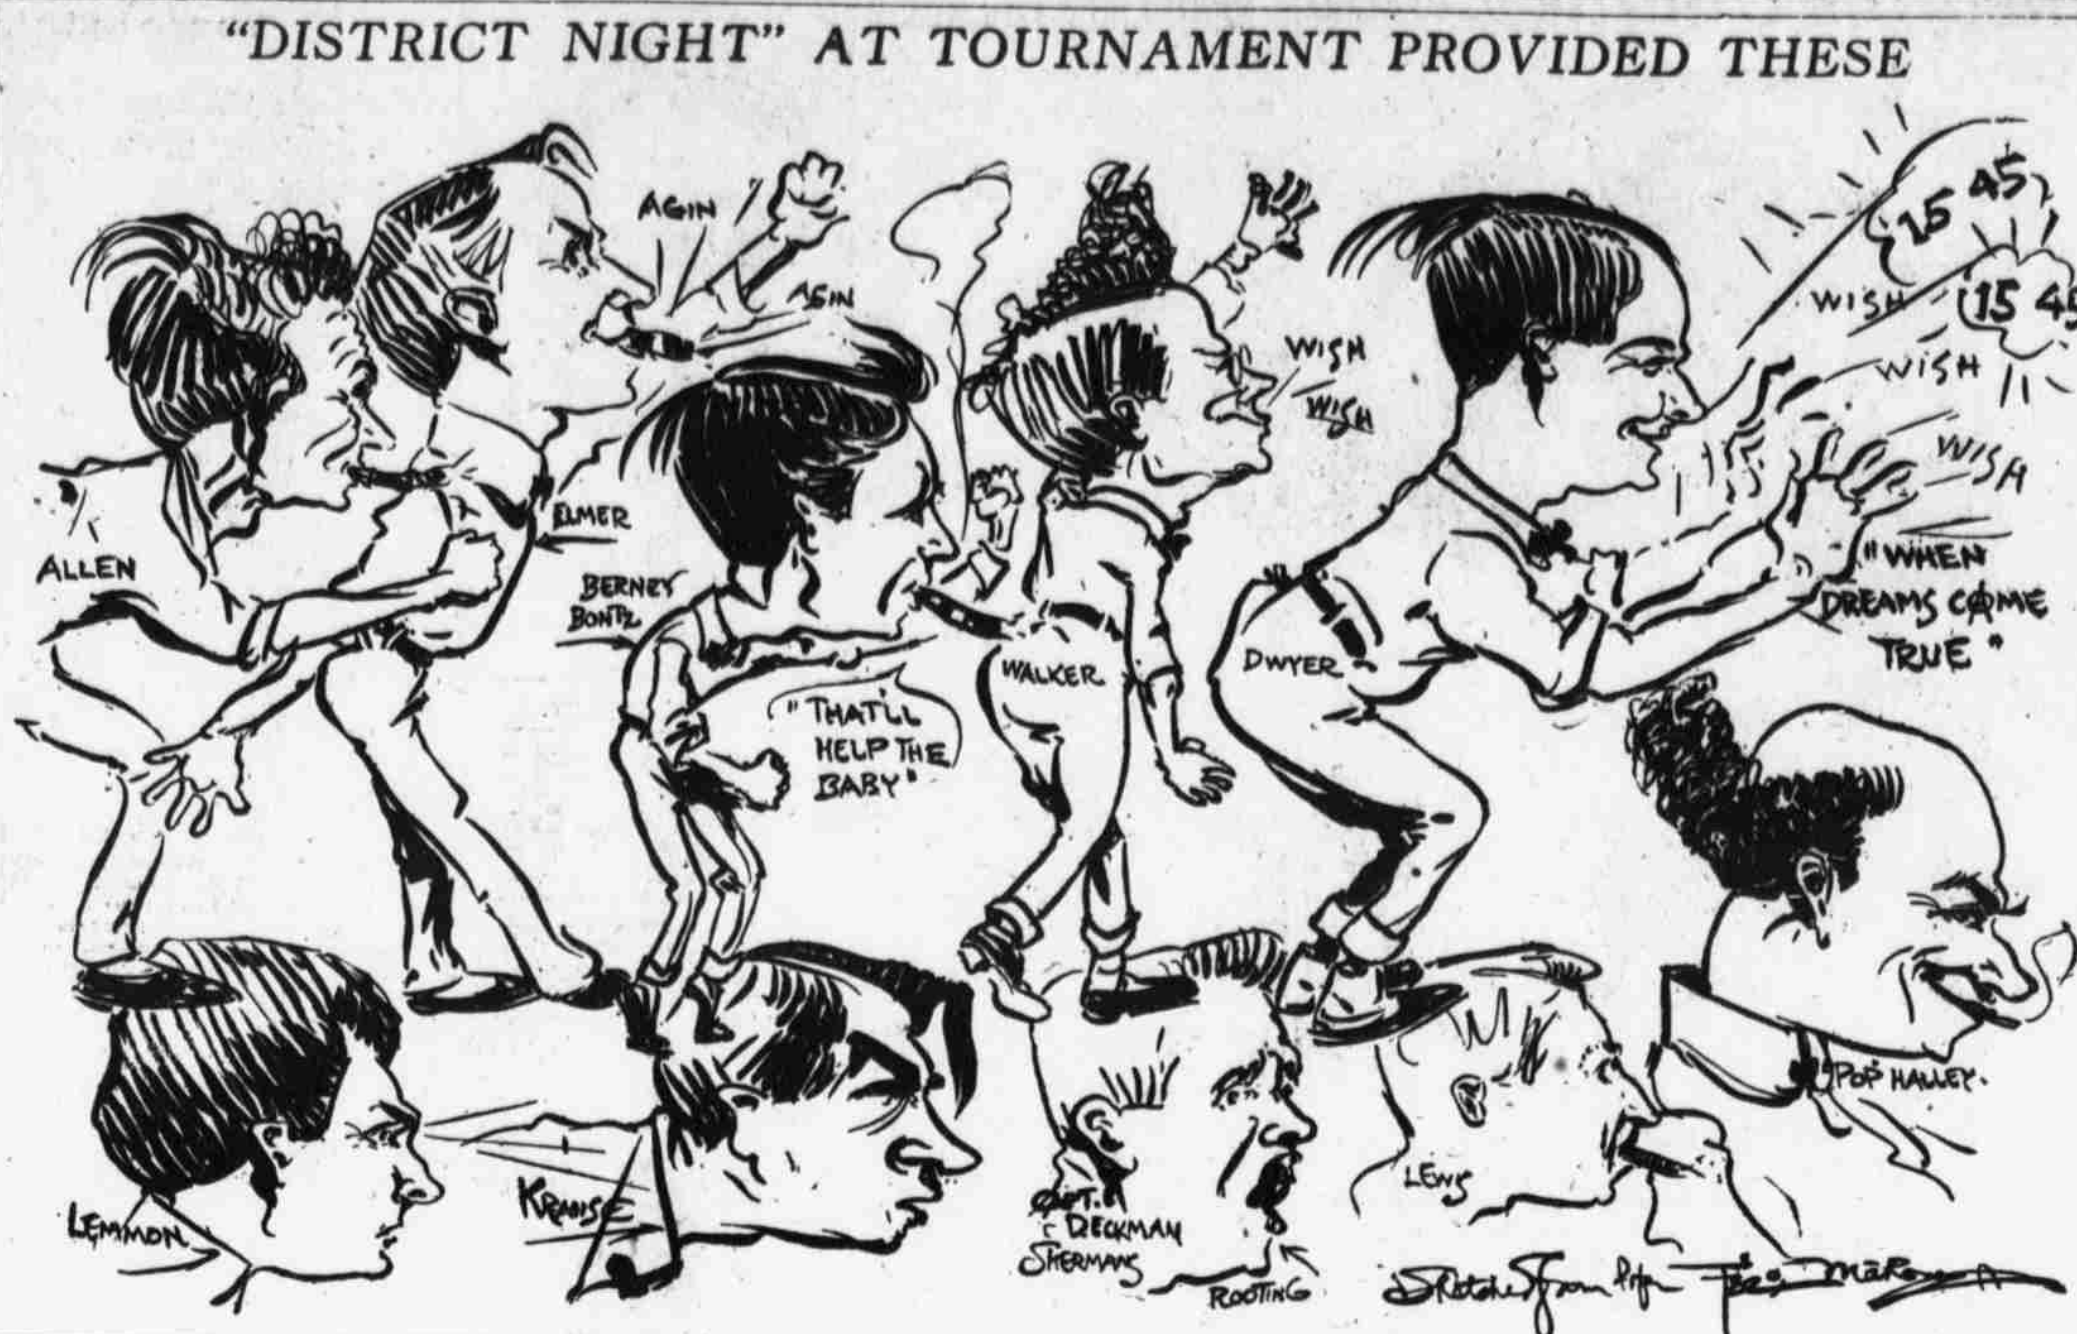

C. I. Crissey will be on hand as high priest and will be witnessed the rolling will be present when the contest commences for the commencement of hostilities.

The committee on arrangements, composed of J. L. McGraw, Harvey T. Rogers, C. I. Crissey, H. L. Parkinson, and William C. Stanbury, are making every effort to have the best auditorium in gala shape for tonight's event.

A number of special prizes have been offered by local merchants, as follows: Meyer's Military Shop, by Robert Meyer, past master of National Lodge No. 12, silver cigar holder in form of duckpin; Walbach & Co., by Robert Walbach, past master of National Lodge No. 12, silver cigar holder in form of duckpin; Walbach & Co., by Robert Walbach, past master of National Lodge No. 12, silver cigar holder in form of duckpin.

The Masonic quintets are to take to the alleys in two detachments of ten each. The first group will respond to the bell at 7 o'clock, while the second contingent will line up at 8:15.

The competing teams comprise what is known as the Masonic Duckpin League, and include some of the best small pin rollers in the city. Stanbury Lodge, rolling with the first section on alley No. 4, is backed by the favorites. The quintet presents a strong front, and should make a bid for any stray flashes of lightning that might be found around the tourney building, unattached. Cliff Horden, one of the dependable of the team, is being picked for a high count.

morning of the 15th, while the local rollers, who were displaced, will be taken care of on the 14th, at 4 o'clock.

The last matinee session for the day will be staged at 3:15, with the performance of ten individuals, two in the tenpin class, and eight in the duckpin class. Roy Whitford and Ernest Dulin will be seen at this time. Whitford is captain of the Christian Xander quint, which rolled last week.

The fighting Shermana justified all claims that had been put forward for a national rolling, they jumped into the lead in the A. C. B. A. ratings, with a high set of 1,545.

The Shermana got away to an open-er of 508, and continuing their great work, reached a total of 538 in the second game. Horace Elmer is, by virtue of his three high games of 115, 102 and 122, given a big share of the credit for the showing. His games combined to make a set of 339, the highest rolled during the evening.

"Bernie" Bontz rolled second high of the Shermana, rolling 307.

The Royal team, considered in the running with the Shermana, also broke into the much coveted 1,500 class, shooting the maples for 1,408 and incidentally intrinsching themselves in third money position.

Pop Halley, rolling lead-off, tumbled more ducks than any one on the alleys when he hung up a third game mark of 123. His team, however, were below the standard.

combination of Baltimore rolled true to form yesterday afternoon, establishing a new tenpin record of 1,186. Both men seemed to exercise the most remarkable mastery over their ball at all times; Swelker rolling for a set of 603, and Von Loosberg 583.

The new record holders left the old mark of 1,135 so far in the rear that the echoes of its crash can be hardly heard. Dantz and Schwab were the former high mark holders, in this class. It is highly probable the new score will stand at least until the arrival of the famous Hoboken contingent, on April 18, with which Herr Getz will roll. No talent is within sight at the present that seems to have any chance of topping the Baltimoreans' high set.

Two Griffons Will Be at Bench Show

Rare Thoroughbred Dog Will Be Seen at Washington Kennel Club Exhibition.

Two wire-pointing Griffons from the Call and Hornblower Kennels, Waverly, Mass., the rarest dogs in the country, are sure to attract attention at the bench show of the Washington Kennel Club, opening at the Washington Kennel and Hunting Club, Twenty-second and P streets northwest, tomorrow at 10 a. m. There are but three dogs of this breed in the United States, and two of them will be at the local show. The third is owned on the Pacific coast and will not be here. They are used to hunt game. With Capt. Grove A. Porter's Foxdale terrier, they will share the attention of dog lovers attending the local exhibition.

The Bow-wow Limited is ready to pull out of New York today, waiting on the arrival of trains from New England. This train will bring here some of the finest dogs in the country. A fleet of electric vans will meet the train at the Union Station and bring the thoroughbreds to the show.

Dave Mackie has set up the benches. They have been thoroughly disinfected for the reception of the lords of dogdom. Not a thing has been overlooked for the comfort of the dogs to be shown here.

R. B. Bailey, better known as Hill Bailey, is here. He has charge of the feeding and care of the dogs on exhibition, and hundreds of Washingtonians know him for what he has done at other shows.

There will be 168 different breeds at the Washington show, with fourteen judges to award the honors. No show south of New York was ever so large or so good.

Tomorrow night the chief attraction will be the Boston terriers and collies. The Boston terriers have the largest number of entries in the show. Friday dogs will be in the limelight, Sunday night.

Miss Collier Hangs Up Highest Total of Year
Miss Marie Collier, in a practice game at the Arcade alleys Monday night, rolled the highest woman's game of the year, when she tumbled the ducks for 117. Miss Collier is considered one of the coming woman rollers of the city.

Brainard Replaces Him
Brainard will play third in his absence and McGraw has in reserve a promising young infielder in Hunter, whom he believes will make a third baseman, but who at present is laid up with a spiked hand.

Mayor Kiel Unable to Open St. Louis Season
ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 12.—For the first time in local history, a mayor will not pitch the first ball at the opening of the local major league baseball season. Mayor Kiel pleads lack of condition. Of course, the usual flowers and music will be on hand when Willie Cook, right-hand spitballer, takes the mound against Pittsburgh's Pirates. Snyder will catch him. Miller and Wilson most likely will be in the points against Huggins' Cardinals.

TEX SELMAN WOULD BATTLE DONALDSON

New Yorker Visits Capital and Says He Is All Ready.

Those two doughy middleweights, Tex Selman and Mike Donaldson, the "gentleman boxer," may yet be hooked up in that fifteen-round battle, which was postponed a year or so ago, when Selman was suddenly ordered to Vera Cruz with Uncle Sam's warships. Donaldson is in town and Selman is expected here in a day or so.

Selman passed through the Capital a few weeks ago and said that his enlistment would end this month. He promised to come back here and endeavor to have the Armory management hook him up with Donaldson.

"That'll suit me," said Donaldson today, when informed of Selman's intention. "I can easily defeat Selman, if he boxes as I have been told. I am in perfect condition and would like nothing better than to get into the same ring with Selman, and, preferably, at Armory."

Donaldson is under the middleweight limit of 135 pounds and requires little or no work to fit himself for a battle with Selman, if the Armory club decides to put them on.

Too much--for so little

That'll be your first thought—and you will class our garments as only on a par with others at fifteen dollars. But you must remember that we are putting every advantage specializing gives us into better fabrics, better cutting, better designing and that nobody has ever sold such Suits and Topcoats at such prices.
